

Greenaction & Bayview Hunters Point Residents Challenge Polluters, US Navy, and Government Agencies: Our Health is Not for Sale!

The campaign by Greenaction and residents demanding a full cleanup of radioactive and toxic waste at the Hunters Point Shipyard Superfund Site has forced the Navy and government agencies to finally consider the scientific reality that climate change-induced sea level and groundwater rise will flood and spread the contamination unless it is properly cleaned up. Our lawsuit and community campaign are keeping the pressure on! We also continue campaigns against Martin Marietta, Darling, Prologis, and other dirty industries being allowed to pollute by regulatory agencies and City Hall.

Stop Pollution from the Avenal Regional Landfill!

The mostly Latino/a and Spanish-speaking residents are demanding an end to air pollution, noxious odors, and rat infestation from the giant Avenal Regional Landfill in California's Central Valley. Every day hundreds of diesel trucks dump garbage and contaminated materials at this problem-plagued solid waste landfill located next to low-income housing and community businesses. Greenaction is working with residents and their new community group CARE (and the Central California Environmental Justice Network) to hold the company and government agencies accountable.

On the Frontlines with Ute Mountain Ute Tribe & White Mesa Ute Community: "Stop Energy Fuels' Uranium Mill/Dump in Utah!"

Greenaction staff and board members joined with the White Mesa Ute Community, Ute Mountain Ute Tribe, and allies on October 3rd and 4th for a regional networking conference and the annual White Mesa Spiritual Walk and Protest against Energy Fuels' uranium mill and dump. We continue carrying out our major commitment to the Ute people in this campaign to stop the Energy Fuels' facility from becoming an international radioactive dump – and to support Navajo/Dine, Havasupai, and other indigenous people in their campaigns to stop more uranium mining and to get contamination cleaned up properly.

Greenaction Youth Academy Program Expands!

We are excited to announce that Greenaction's Youth and Adult Environmental & Climate Justice Leadership Academy programs are expanding. As we continue our leadership building programs in Bayview Hunters Point, San Francisco and the White Mesa Ute Community in Utah, we will be holding Youth and Adult academies in Avenal in California's Central Valley, and at the Quechan Indian Tribe located along the Colorado River in California and Arizona. These programs

Greenaction & Quechan Indian Tribe Launch New Air Quality Campaign

Greenaction is excited to be launching a new air quality project with the Quechan Indian Tribe and the grassroots tribal member organization Ah Mut Pipa Foundation. We first worked with the Quechan in the late 1990's in the campaign that defeated the proposed Ward Valley nuclear waste dump in the Mojave Desert. In the last three years we worked closely with the Quechan in their successful campaign that defeated two cyanide leach gold mine projects proposed near their reservation near Yuma, Arizona and Winterhaven, California. Now we are starting a new project featuring community air monitoring, Youth and Adult Environmental Justice Leadership programs, and community education and civic engagement on air pollution issues including diesel truck emissions, pesticide exposure, and disposal of California toxic waste at a solid waste landfill in Yuma, AZ.

NO KINGS! Greenaction Joins Millions of Americans to Defend Democracy & Demand Justice! No Troops or ICE in Our Communities!

We will continue to speak out against the trump regime's violent assault on democracy, justice, communities, free speech, immigrants, workers, and our environment. We will join millions of Americans on October 18th in thousands of cities and towns to say "NO KINGS!" We urge everyone to unite in peaceful, powerful protests to resist tyranny and demand justice, wherever you are!

PLEASE SUPPORT GREENACTION!

Help Greenaction continue to win victories for healthy and safe environments and environmental, climate, social, and racial justice.

Please support Greenaction with an end-of-the-year donation to keep us on the frontlines in campaigns for environmental, climate, social, economic, and racial justice. We will never sell-out or compromise!
